

Beauty without scars:

A slim, firm and youthful appearance thanks to the secret weapon: laser

No matter if body contouring or giving a facelift - by using modern innovative laser technology, plastic surgeon Dr Ludger Meyer achieves the same results as if using a scalpel, but without the revealing marks and with a far shorter time for recovery.

Even though the plastic surgeon Dr Ludger Meyer loves surgery, his practice and clinic VILLA BELLA in the heart of Munich, is leading in the combined application of Sciton laser technology, developed in the USA: With a micro insertion, he can melt subcutaneous fat from inside the body and strengthen the connective tissue. This allows removing loose skin and shaping the contour of legs, stomach, face and arms permanently. This is why men and women from all over Europe are coming to him to treat themselves with a laser-lipo-lifting, says Dr Ludger Meyer. "Even one session with the Sciton laser improves the silhouette sustainably: a real alternative to the far more complex and risky surgery."

Erbium:YAG Laser offers new possibilities in plastic surgery

When it comes to skin rejuvenation, Dr Ludger Meyer also sees an advantage in the different Sciton lasers, compared to classic plastic surgery: A surgery only tightens the skin. The small wrinkles and large pores still exist - and the facelift also leaves visible scars. The laser not only straightens the skin, but it also becomes more regular and younger looking, the surgeon explains. Dr Ludger Meyer has ten years of experience in laser surgery: "Patients are completely fascinated when they look at before and after pictures. They look years younger, without the artificial look patients often have after facelift surgery."

The experienced surgeon Dr Ludger Meyer is a specialist in aesthetic breast surgery with the latest, chipped implants as well as laser treatments with the whole range of Sciton lasers. The modern laser also strengthens connective tissue. Double chin, flabby cheeks and tear sacs vanish completely, and this is why Dr Ludger Meyer sees this technology as an ideal addition to his clinic: "'We stay true to your personality' - that is VILLA BELLA's credo and something we can easily achieve with laser technology."
